

Note from Editor-in-Chief

It has been an accolade for Bangladesh Pharmaceutical Society (BPS) to publish another issue of Bangladesh Pharmaceutical Journal (BPJ) (Volume 13, Issue 1). The interval between the publication of Volume 12 and Volume 13 was due to some unavoidable circumstances that in fact helped BPS to take necessary measures to ensure the publication of its esteemed journal, BPJ, on a regular basis from now on. The present issue of BPJ contains 15 research articles from different disciplines of pharmaceutical sciences. In its next issue, BPJ will also focus on manuscripts emphasizing on hospital pharmacy, community pharmacy and other disciplines of pharmacy profession. With the positive advancements in the work of good pharmacy practice (GPP) and good manufacturing practice (GMP), it has become imperative for BPJ to address these issues at the right perspectives. In this regard, BPJ invites manuscripts from the researchers of all the countries of the world. I finally thank all the members of the Editorial Board & Executive Council, the contributors and others who spent their valuable time and knowledge for the successful publication of the current issue of BPJ.
